

What's Missing?

You.

Every year, there are legislative proposals that place the real estate industry at risk. Whether it means increased government regulation of your business, decreased housing opportunities for potential buyers or expanding local governments' authority to constrain new construction, the threats are real. Only because of past RPAC investments have the REALTORS® been able to successfully fight off these attacks on your livelihood. But we can only fight with your help.

Make your RPAC investment now to ensure our continued success.
